

How do I become a psychiatrist?

1

Meet the prerequisites

- ✓ Registration as a medical practitioner in Australia or New Zealand
- ✓ In New Zealand, hold a current practising certificate
- ✓ At least one year (FTE) of general medical training

2

Apply locally

Contact the local RANZCP Training Committee in your preferred training location/s

What's involved?

- ✓ written or online application
- ✓ curriculum vitae
- ✓ referee reports
- ✓ interview/s

3

Enter psychiatry training

- ✓ Be selected to enter the training program
- ✓ Be appointed to a local RANZCP accredited training position
- ✓ Register and enter into a Training Agreement with the RANZCP
- ✓ Pay the associated fees

4

Train as a psychiatry trainee

See the other side of this card for details of the RANZCP Training Program

5

Attain RANZCP Fellowship

Begin working as a consultant psychiatrist

How do I apply?

Get in touch with the local training contact:
www.ranzcp.org/howtoapply

The Royal Australian &
New Zealand
College of Psychiatrists

Your Health
inMind

The RANZCP Training Program

- Workplace-based assessments (WBAs)
- Entrustable professional activities (EPAs)
- Psychotherapy written case
- Scholarly project
- MCQ exam
- Essay-style exam
- Objective structured clinical exam

More information

www.ranzcp.org/training

Current at April 2018

The Royal Australian and New Zealand College of Psychiatrists has received Australian Government funding under the Specialist Training Program to develop this resource.

The Royal Australian & New Zealand College of Psychiatrists

