In essay form, critically discuss this statement from different points of view and provide your conclusion.

As long ago as 400BC, Hippocrates wrote of how “the patient, though conscious that his condition is perilous, may recover his health simply through his contentment with the goodness of the physician”.

(40 marks)

Reference: